Dartmouth's 3rd Comedy Festival - 4/5/6/7 February 2009

Laugh more, live longer.....

The Flavel Arts Centre in Dartmouth are hosting a third Festival of Comedy 4/5/6/7 Feb 2009. The same successful format - an eclectic mix of entertaining Comedians performing in and around the town - has been kept. Whether its slapstick, standup, magic, classic silent film shorts, or comedy puppets and music that tickles your fancy, there will be something for you and the whole family to laugh at.

Names in the frame include Barry Cryer and Ronnie Golden who will be performing on Sat 7th Feb. Jo Caulfield and Rudi Lickwood are both bringing their critically acclaimed shows to the Flavel on Fri 6th Feb. A family show for the younger audience is Captain Carrot, Field Agent – the earth's first bright orange super hero, The more adventurous family audience could well be amused by The Scottish Falsetto Sock Puppet Theatre supported by Men With Bananas which was very well received at the Edinburgh Fringe this August.

Neil Brand will be providing the piano accompaniment to three Classic Silent Comedy Shorts, Charlie Chaplin, Laurel and Hardy and Buster Keaton on Thu 5th Feb. The official launch night will be hosted by the Festival patron, Peter Richardson, with Spice Bazaar canapés, wine and a Comedy film from 7pm on Weds 4th Feb.

Peter Reeves will be leading a Comedy workshop 'Hook, Line and Tag' for anybody who fancies having a go themselves and James Campbell will be asking the kids 'Why are words wonderful?' after a performance of his Comedy 4 Kids show.

We have a welcome return of some Flavel favourites including Henning Wehn who you can catch at the Royal Castle Hotel and the Amazing Mr Smith whose mad musical inventions will be revealed once again at the Floating Bridge.

Full programme and tickets on sale from the Box Office on 01803 839530 or online at www.theflavel.org.uk
